

How Right Priorities Can Prevent or Solve Life's Biggest Problems
S.M. Davis

1 - Life is relationships and a man's family is his _____ human relationship.

A _____ question cannot be answered.

“ _____ is a man's top priority in life?” is a flawed question.

A better question to ask is: _____ is a man's top priority as far as life relationships are concerned?

Life is made up of _____. The _____ of life is not the stuff of life.

The top priority relationship of all of life for you should be your relationship with _____.

The next priority relationship of life ought to be your relationship with your _____ and the next one after that ought to be with your _____.

_____ or _____ must not come before relationships. God made them _____ relationships.

I must spend whatever time is necessary to let my wife and children know that they are the number one _____ of my life.

Keeping priorities right _____ many problems before they can start.

Preacher's kids don't have to meet the _____ expectations. They have to please _____ and their _____.

Every relationship dealt with properly becomes a _____ for the next relationships of life.

The priorities of life's relationships can be understood by the _____ in which life comes with any exceptions to that order being outlined specifically by _____ himself.

2 - God made a man's leadership of his family the foundation of his leadership in other areas.

There is a _____ about this truth that permeates the life and relationships of the man who believes it deep in his heart.

3 - Because of the _____ to a wife and children who are not a priority.

4 - A man who doesn't understand that will not understand that _____ men's homes are a priority.

5 - Because of the danger of your not being able to

_____.

6 - The _____ nature of life itself makes this a priority.

Because of time constraints, all the material listed above may not be covered. Sheets with all answers filled in are available by clicking on the "Downloads" button at www.SolveFamilyProblems.com